Do not be afraid. Trust-Hope- Believer's Attitude | 2013

From June 21 to 23, 2013

Hall of the Good Shepherd | Pastoral Centre Paul VI

The Theological Pastoral Symposium held in the 3rd year of the preparation and celebration septenary of the Centennial of the Apparitions of Fatima, Do not be afraid. Trust - Hope - Believer's Attitude, reflected the effort of bringing to the light the singular hope places that contemporary culture - often pale, saturated of dismay, on the edge of vulnerability, dilapidated of trust and haunted by fears, many with no face or figure - points and generates. Confidence, hope and the believer's attitude were so elected, as determinant in a humanity capable of domesticate exacerbated survival instincts and to live with joy and responsibility open to the future. The approaches to these points were covered in a central concern, a line of questioning that crossed them all: what reasons can the contemporary world have to trust? From where does it grow, where it passes, where does it root the possible trust in a startled world?
